Signals a Fast Express to Stop, Just in Time to Avert Awful Collision.

TWELVE INJURED

Despite All Precautions, a Dozen Persons Were Badly Hurt by the Accident.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Mt. Vernon, N. Y., April 15.—By the exceptional presence of mind of a woman a most horrible railway accident was averted this morning near this city and the lives of several hundred people were doubtless saved.

Signaled Train
While walking down the tracks with a lunch basket and umbrella in her hand a woman saw the fast express approaching at full speed.
Just around the curve was the slow passenger train. Waving her hat and umbrella the woman attempted to signal the engineer of the express to stop.

Was Not Seen
The fog was so thick that she was not seen but as the train passed her she screamed so loud that the engineer reversed the levers just in time to bring the train to a stop as it crashed into the rear coach of the train ahead.

Twelve Injured
As it was twelve persons were injured but had the train not come to a stop when it did one of the most horrible rear-end collisions recorded would have happened.

EXCITING SCENE IN ASSEMBLY CHAMBER

Attorney for Railroad Company Accuses Madison Man of Falsifying Before Legislative Committee.

Madison, Wis., April 15.—Burton Hanson of Chicago, attorney for the Milwaukee Railroad company, branded T. C. Richmond of Madison as a deliberate and willful falsifier in the assembly chamber at the hearing on the railroad commission bill. Richmond made a rush for the attorney, but checked himself and shouted:
"You have taken advantage of this committee to say what you would not dare say to me outside. You have shown yourself a coward, but I tell you no man can brand me as a liar and escape unharmed."

Hanson immediately apologized, but the men were by no means friendly and members crowded near to prevent a fist fight. Richmond had made the charge that the railroads gave a Madison shipper big rebates, but refused to give the name of the shipper who told him, although Hanson and the other railroad lobbyists insisted Richmond should name the man or take back the statement.

GOVERNOR NASH MAY REMOVE TOM JOHNSON

Cleveland's Mayor Refuses to Obey
State Auditor's Order in Regard to Traction Proceedings.

Cleveland, O., April 15.—Gov. Nash may remove Mayor Tom L. Johnson from office as the outgrowth of the fight over the taxation question.

Mayor Johnson, after his re-election added thousands of dollars to the tax duplicates of five of the city's big corporations. Auditor of State Guilberd ordered Johnson and County Auditor Wright to stop their proceedings, as the preceding auditor had increased the taxation value of these corporations. Mayor Johnson announced that he would ignore the order of the State administration.

This action may be made the ground for the removal of the mayor by the governor, for the latter has, under the new code, full power to remove mayors whenever charges are filed against them.

GREAT TORNADO IN THE SOUTH

Alabama Is Storm-Swept
by a Terrific Wind, and Many Are Killed.

DID MUCH DAMAGE

Houses Are Swept Away by the Wind, and Whole Towns Are Destroyed.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Birmingham, April 15.—Specials from Evergreen, Ala., this morning confirm the report of the damage done by the tornado at that place and in the neighborhood of Peter-man and Burnt Corn which passed over Monday.

Ten Persons Killed
Ten persons are known to have been killed. Numerous barns, out-buildings and fences were swept away by high winds, and several ished by falling timbers that were carried great distances.

companying the storm and the rivers rose so rapidly that many of the

TWO VOTES MAY MAKE TROUBLE

The Town of Rock Is Up Against a Bad Legal Proposition.

From all accounts the town of Rock is up against a hard proposition that may have to have a decision of the courts necessary before it is settled. Two votes cast at the recent election have either been lost or there was a miscount at the first going over of the ballots.

License Question
Rock voted on license or no license at the last election. When the count was made it was found that a hundred and fifty-five votes had been cast whereas the poll list called for 156. A recount was made with the same result and it was then found that one vote had been placed in the town box by mistake. This was added to the license votes and the total 156 votes counted. A canvas was then made and the vote stood 78 for license and 77 against, a loss of one vote on a recount the result stood 78 for license and 75 against. As a majority is necessary a recount was made and this time the result showed that two of the non-license votes had either disappeared or that the original vote had been wrongly counted at first.

Many Counts
The non-license people claim fraud at the polls as the books show one hundred and fifty-six votes were cast and after the first count only one hundred and fifty-four can be found.

Grant License
The town board say that all they can do is to go by the vote shown and that they will have to grant licenses to those who wish to take them out. This has stirred up the non-license people and they insist that the case has not been ended yet and that the question may go to the courts before it is decided.

BURY THE HERO OF A CITY FIRE

Rites at Indianapolis for Man Who Gave His Life for Others.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 15.—The funeral of Nathan Morris and young Frank Haas, victims of Sunday's fire, was held in the presence of an immense assemblage. The two caskets, the altar and a large organ were banked with flowers. Jacob Newman of Chicago was one of the pallbearers.
Rabbi Messing in his oration paid a rich tribute to the man who sacrificed his life for others. Dr. Joseph Milburn of Chicago, whose presence Morris had requested, also delivered a eulogy.
The bar meeting was probably the largest and most affecting ever held in Indiana. The courtroom was filled to its capacity. The memorial adopted was read by John R. Wilson and its theme was sounded in the opening quotation: "Greater love hath no man than this—that he lay down his life for his friends."

IS BEATEN BY A BRUTAL GUARD

Patient in Kentucky Asylum Tells of Shocking Cruelties.

Louisville, Ky., April 15.—An old man, a patient of the central insane asylum, told the investigating committee that an attendant had knocked him down and jumped on his breast, breaking two ribs. Then the patient was beaten and dragged to the ward and locked up. The witness' testimony was corroborated by a boy who was present when the assault occurred. An attendant also stated that he had known of the occurrence. The patient had spoken in what the attendant considered an impertinent manner.

POLICE AT SEA OVER CULPRIT

New York Sleuths Are Still Working on the Mysterious Body-in-
The-Barrel Case.

NO CLUES AS YET

The Body Is Thought To Be That of a Victim of a Secret Society.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
New York, April 15.—The police are no nearer the solution of the mystery surrounding the case of the foreigner whose body was found Tuesday in a barrel than they were at the first. Several clues have been run down.

Not Italian Prominent Italians say that the remains are not those of an Italian and that none of their race know anything of him. The police believe he was lured to his death by a geocy of a secret society.

A Note
On the body was found a note from some woman which reads:
"Come today. It is most urgent."
Work on this basis with the idea that a woman was instrumental in causing his death may lead to several arrests soon.

RAILWAY NOTES OF MUCH INTEREST

Improvements and General News
In the Railway Circles.

A force of men are at work putting new timbers on the piling of the incline track leading up to the shed here.

The cement piers are being erected on the site to be occupied by the old Chicago, Milwaukee and St.
Paul passenger station. The building is to be moved a few feet north of its present location, in order that the main tracks may be straightened and brought parallel to each other. The cement work being done is in charge of Foreman Adolph Luckow of Watertown.

The remains of Herman Knowles, the Chicago and North-Western engineer who was killed at Salem last Monday, arrived in the city last evening and were taken to the home of his brother, Charles Knowles, 103 Linn street.

Conductor J. J. Dullin, who has the morning passenger run on the North-Western from Rockford, took the train on through to Watertown this morning, in place of Conductor Chamberlain, who took a day off.

The Chicago and North-Western morning passenger from Madison, is now in charge of Conductor Kendall, who also has the Afton-Evanston run during the day. Conductor Walte, who formerly had these trains is now on one of the Dakota runs.
The work of straightening and ballasting the St. Paul tracks west of the new passenger station is progressing, a large force of men being at work there. As soon as the old depot is moved back the work can be carried to completion.

THREATEN TO BURN THE TOWN

Montgomery, Ind., Excited Over Attempted Extortion.

Montgomery, Ind., April 15.—William Brown, a merchant, has received a letter from unknown persons warning the citizens of the town that unless they place a glass jar containing $2,500 at the end of a bridge west of here the town will be destroyed by fire and dynamite. The letter has caused excitement among the people, as incendiaries have made three attempts to set the town on fire. The letter said that these efforts to wipe out the town were but an indication of what would come if the money was not left at the bridge.

NEW MANAGER FOR MYERS HOUSE

Rockford Register-Gazette Has Col.
Garrison of Rockford Planning to Take Charge of New Company.

Col. A. J. Garrison, formerly manager of the Hotel Nelson, was in Rockford over Sunday. He went from here to Janesville where he is to become manager of the Myers house under a reorganized company.
The company has been capitalized at $100,000 and under Col. Garrison will give Janesville a good hotel.
The above paragraph, taken from the Rockford Register-Gazette, appears to be rather premature in its statements. It is true that Mr. Garrison was in the city and was in consultation with Landlord Johnson of the Hotel Myers, but he did not talk to the committee in charge of the project of capitalizing a hotel stock company. Chairman Dennis Hayes of that committee averred there "was nothing in it," when told of the Register-Gazette's statement, while T. O. Howe, also a member of the committee, said it was "news to him."

the rehearsal of 'Trial by Jury,' I met Mr. Gilbert at the stage door of the

ILLINOIS BUREAU'S WEEKLY CROP REPORT

Summary of the Condition of the Wheat Plants in the Various Sections of the State.

Springfield, Ill., April 15.—The weekly crop bulletin for the week ended April 13 says: The sowing of spring wheat in the northern section has begun. Winter wheat in the cenmade in plowing for corn. In many localities the soil is too wet for operations. In the southern district some fields have been planted. The general condition of the meadows and pastures is excellent.

The peach crop is not entirely lost in the southern district, some reports most without exception the buds have

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE ACCEPTS SETTLEMENT OF THE SUITS

AN INTERESTING MEETING HELD LAST EVENING,

THE TERMS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Features of the Meeting Bring Out Facts Before the Members Very Plainly.

With a view to dismissing the civil suits instituted by the Municipal League against two city officials, the members of that organization last night approved the terms of settlement recommended by the executive committee of the league. By the terms of the agreement several aldermen have retired permanently from politics, the Recorder will stop "knocking" the league, and a sum of money is in possession of the treasurer of the league great enough to pay all costs of the actions brought to return the subscriptions for the investigation, and to leave a balance of about $1,000 to be turned back into the city treasury.

Settlement, rather than the further prosecution of the two cases in question—were the suit brought by George S. Parker, in behalf of himself and other taxpayers, against James B. McElroy, and the action brought by the same party against Herbert S. Gilkey—was considered the only advisable course, when the complexities which would arise from further litigation were taken into account.

President George S. Parker presided over the meeting which was held in the assembly room of the city hall last evening. It was attended by nearly one hundred and fifty of the members of the league.

In bringing the meeting to the subject to be considered, Pres. Parker outlined the work of the league up to the present time, calling attention to the apparent impossibility, at the time of organization, of meeting with such glowing success as has since attended the league. He then called upon Francis Grant, the secretary and treasurer of the organization, to read a statement of the finances of the league. Mr. Grant's statement contained the following among other items:

Expenses of League
Total amount subscribed . . . $989.05
Total expenditures . . . 852.06

Balance . . . $136.99
Subscribed for campaign uses 97.80
Expenses of league campaign 158.75
Actual league investigation expenses . . . 886.31

Among the other items the following are included under this last head:

Attorney's fees . . . $365.00
Sheriff's fees . . . 111.00
Court commissioner's fees . . . 112.31
M. G. Jeffris was then called upon to outline the legal side of the league's activities. In the suits, which had been instituted, he said enough had been developed to make it dangerous for some people in office. Adjustment was then proposed by the attorney for the defense. It was evident that if litigation was continued, it would run for many years, and involve many persons and great expense. The very lengthy pleadings and infinite amount of labor necessary in the two suits already brought indicated that.

St. Louis' boodle investigations were referred to. Mr. Jeffris called attention to the re-election to office of the same men against whom the charges of corruption had been brought. The attempt to clean out the combine was an utter failure. Not a reform candidate was put in office. Janesville has had the opposite experience from St. Louis in this respect.

The propositions of settlement were then outlined by Mr. Jeffris. The executive committee demanded a sum of money large enough, first to pay back every subscriber to the league fund, so that a few men would not have to bear the expenses of improving conditions for the whole city; second, to repay all the expenses already incurred, and third, to turn over to the city treasury about one thousand dollars.

These propositions had all been met, said Mr. Jeffris. No one would criticize the committee, he believed for recommending the acceptance of the outlined agreement. Already a league ticket has won in the field, and it will be at the cost of the men who went out of office. He moved that the suits be dismissed, the subscriptions returned, and the balance turned over to the city treasurer.

In seconding this motion William Ruger suggested that the question be divided so that if desired a different disposition might be made of the money received.

Who Paid Money?
Halvor S. Skavlem wished to know where the money came from, and Mr. Jeffris said he did not know. The money came from the attorneys; perhaps they gave it, perhaps not. Mr. Ruger wished it understood that he had not had anything to do with the payment of the money as attorney in any of the cases.

Frank Jackman declared that he could see only one reason given for stopping the suits, that the lawyers were getting lazy. The ticket was elected, but that did not excuse inactivity.

Fred S. Sheldon urged publicity in dealing with the men who had put up the money and who had agreed to keep out of politics. He said that he knew that Horace McElroy had transferred the money and that if no one else chose to tell who the men were whom Mr. McElroy represented, he would name them.

H. H. Blanchard did not see how the promises given by the men to keep out of politics would be binding. What would prevent their bobbing up again at the next election? Only half of the council had been elected thus far by the league. Francis Grant urged settlement on the ground that in justice suits should be brought against all of the men who have been guilty of misconduct in office in the past six years. To do this would require years of labor and much money. The league can continue in existence and elect and sustain good men in office without continuing the suits.

R. Valentine declared that the initiative in the steps toward settlement was taken by the attorneys for the other side.

By this time some warmth had been created by the demand for the names of the people who were to stay out of politics and put up the money, and Francis Grant read from his minutes of previous meetings the first proposition made by Horace McElroy to the executive committee. It provided that Aldermen McLean, Rice, Kothman, and Hutchinson should get out of politics and among other things that the Recorder should back down and stop its criticism of the league. The executive committee flatly refused to entertain the proposition at that time.

Check For $1,685
Mr. Grant further stated that he had in his possession a certificate of deposit in the First National bank for $1,685, made out by Mr. McElroy in his favor, to be returned in case the proposition of settlement outlined by Mr. Jeffris was not accepted.

G. G. Sutherland called attention to the arduous labors of the executive committee and the care with which they had gone over every possible objection before deciding that settlement should be made. His words brought forth the explanation from Pres. Parker that the committee was not in any way bound to a settlement; that the negotiations had been made with that understanding that everything was subject to the approval of the league.

Michael Hayes said that he had objection enough to the retiring council members, but that he believed that the industrial good of the city demanded settlement.

Rev. R. C. Denison suggested that the money which had been subscribed by the league members might appropriately be used to purchase a memorial to be erected in front of the Carnegie library where it would remind all passersby of the work of the league. He suggested a bust of Lincoln with the words, "The government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Dennis Hayes wished to know if the four aldermen whose names had been mentioned consented to the agreement which was proposed by Mr. McElroy. He said that Hutchinson had made the statement to him that he had no part in any such agreement.

Mr. Jeffris said that this was the reason he had refused to name the men who were back of the agreement. He did not know them, but he believed that others than those mentioned were connected with the raising of the money.

Francis Grant said that at one meeting Mr. McElroy stated that it would be impossible to secure the resignations from office of Rice, Hutchinson, and Kothman. McElroy also said that Gilkey had had much to do with raising the money.

Here Mr. Jeffris raised a strenuous objection to publicity on a subject which was so likely to cast reflections on the wrong persons. Mr. Grant supported his ground by the statement that Mr. McElroy had understood that all propositions should be made public to the League. William Ruger held that these negotiations should be kept secret. He also advanced the opinion that prosecution of the suits would not pan out heavy enough to amount to anything. He believed that the function of the League lay in other directions than in bringing suits.

Declared Defendants Guilty
M. G. Jeffris took issue on the point of the possibility of securing damages in the suits. He said that he was absolutely convinced that there had been malfeasance in office and that the guilty parties were liable to the city.

Vote was taken and it was decided to dismiss the suits, accept the money transferred through Mr. McElroy, repay all subscriptions, and put the balance into the city treasury.

By this time the members of the league were in good humor and a number of amusing sallies were made. Richard Valentine advised that part of the money be used to erase the names of the council from the corner stone of the city hall. M. O. Mount spoke of the purchase of the crusher plant as a memorial. Rev. Denison added to the laughter by explaining that he was willing to have his subscription used for a statue, because he had promised it to his wife in case it was returned.

Votes of thanks were then passed to the executive committee of the League for its faithful work, and to the Janesville Daily Gazette for its co-operation in the movement. In acknowledging the latter, H. F. Bliss pledged the further support of the paper to the League, and pointed out the need of increasing the membership roll of the League until it passes the thousands and marks. Less than half of the tax payers of the city voted for the head of the citizens ticket on last election. There is too much apathy among voters.

A hat collection was taken to pay a janitor's bill presented for the use of the Assembly hall for the meetings.

Michael Hayes was elected member of the executive committee from the Fourth Ward to succeed A. O. Wilson, disqualified for membership by his election to office.

After discussion of the plans for future work the meeting adjourned. Copies of the constitution will be placed in each of the four banks where members may enroll themselves. There are now about 350 members.

SOCIAL UNION CLOSES YEAR

WITH EXCELLENT SUPPER, LAST NIGHT.

VERY INTERESTING TALKS

Rev. Barrington, A. E. Matheson and Rev. Denison Were the Speakers of the Evening.

The Social Union club met for its final banquet of the year in the lecture room of the Y. M. C. A. last evening.

This meeting closes the season for this organization and it was with many regrets that the young business men of the city realized that they were gathered around the festive board for the last time until the beginning of the season in next November. The Social Union club is one of the late additions to Janesville club life, being organized last November. The object of that formation was to gather together the young men who were not enjoying the privileges of the Twilight club for social purposes and to indulge in the discussion of the numerous questions which affect our social and city life. Although the club has only been organized for one season, great interest has been taken in all of its meetings and all have taken an active part in the programs which have been arranged for their attention.

The club was very fortunate in securing among its members some of our best prominent business and professional men who have taken a leading part in the discussions and encouraged the younger men by their interest and direction to take an active part in the programs.

Large Membership
The club membership is 165, which is the limit. There has at all times been a considerable waiting list and many of the young men of the city who are not members are anxious to join. This shows a healthy condition and the interest of those who belong insures many prosperous years for the organization.

Excellent Banquets
The banquets with which each meeting has opened have been in charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary, who have provided suppers of most excellent quality and tastefully served. The open and pleasant discussions and good comradeship at the tables has been one of the most pleasant features of the meetings. The younger and older members of the club have been distributed at a table in such a way that the younger members could not feel that they were being slighted.

Meetings Interesting
The meetings have been very interesting to all. The gentlemen who have had charge of the programs have selected interesting and instructive subjects and those who have been chosen as chairmen have selected as far as possible men who were well versed in the branches which have been assigned to them. The principal speakers for the evenings prepared themselves with care upon their subjects and drew out plenty of information for their hearers. The open discussions which generally followed each topic gave each an opportunity to express his views upon the subject and out of these discussions arose many an interesting and instructive argument, and many were the bright and sharp debates which resulted as each championed his side of the question.

Program
The program last evening was in charge of Mr. L. F. Wrentdike and upon the subject of Janesville's Needs. The stated speakers and their subjects were:
A Rest Room for Farmers and Their Wives—Rev. J. F. Henderson.
Beautifying Our Homes—Mr. Geo. Parker.
Moral Improvement—Mr. A. E. Matheson.

The inability of Mr. Parker and Rev. Henderson to attend necessitated the substitution of Rev. A. H. Barrington for Rev. Henderson and Rev. R. C. Denison for Mr. Parker.

Mr. Barrington
Rev. Barrington in opening his subject, Rest Room for Farmers and Their Wives, told a little story about the hard-shelled Baptists, comparing them to the cracking of a hickory nut, in view of the presence of Rev. Vaughan the story aroused much merriment. Rev. Barrington then went on in a general way to tell the benefits that would result from the existence of a place where the farmers and their wives could go for rest and recreation, while waiting in town. He said that it would form a very convenient meeting place for the members of the family; one where a quiet hour could be spent by the ladies, visiting among themselves and a most convenient place to leave bundles and the children; much better than the streets or stores as they are now required to do. Rev. Barrington went on to give his views of how such a place could be run with success and suggested that in addition to reading and recreation rooms that a lunch room be operated where a meal could be purchased for a small price.

Rev. Denison
Beautifying Our Homes was well handled by Rev. Denison. He spoke in his usual pleasing manner and the keynote of his remarks was permanency and simplicity. Not quantity but quality; he spoke of the way in which he could beautify the parks of our city and expressed himself in favor of not cutting up the beautiful green lawns of either the private place or the public park for the sake of either a flower bed or a fountain. In his opinion the smooth green turf is much more beautiful than one cut up by drives, walks and flower beds. He expressed the idea of placing these ornaments in the corners or around the trees where the level effect of the lawn was broken anyway. Mr. Denison also advanced the idea that drives could be built along both banks of the river above the city which would furnish much pleasure to those who were able to use them. He spoke of the drives which the city of Madison is so justly proud of and while fully realizing the impossibility of duplicating them yet he felt that much could be done in that line by the residents of this city.

Moral Improvements
Mr. A. E. Matheson in his address upon the subject, "Moral Improvements," spoke in very complimentary terms of the people of Janesville and of the excellent record they have made in the field of public life. He said that when he was still a resident of his home city in Elkhorn, he looked on this city as the leader and much admired its reputation, both as a city and as individuals. He went on to say that we must not be harsh in our judgment of others and even though we do not think as others do and are not accustomed to take our recreation in the same manner yet we should not misjudge them, and merely because we differ conclude that we are right and that they are wrong. He broad-minded and generous and the effect upon the world is far better than if we try to drive others into doing as we think is for the best.

Business Meeting
Then a business session was held in which a report of the treasurer was read and accepted. He reported a total receipt of $219.00 and total expenditures of about $200.02, leaving a balance of $18.98. Judge Elfield moved that a committee of three be appointed for a program committee and five on the membership committee, both to be appointed by the president, the motion was carried.

Committee Appointed
A. E. Matheson moved for the appointment of three members of the club to confer with a committee from the Twilight club in regard to a rest room. Motion carried. None of the committees were appointed the chair preferring to wait a few days before naming his choice. The membership fee was changed from $1.50 per member to $2.00 for the coming year. This was to enable the ladies who have charge of the banquets to have a little larger allowance, the present rate being a little too small to allow them to set the table in the manner in which they would like to do.

Vaughan
At the close of the meeting Rev. Vaughan was called upon for a story. He responded with a tale of a man who when asked what his religious status was, he responded that he must be an Episcopalian, for whenever he heard them they were shouting "the lord have mercy upon us poor sinners" this return hit at Rev. Barrington was greatly appreciated by the club.

Closing Meeting
This closing meeting was marked for the warm fellowship and hearty good will expressed by the members to each other and when they adjourned to meet the first Tuesday evening of November next. All expressed a hope that there would be no missing faces at that gathering.

Thank Ladies
H. J. Cunningham, with a few well chosen remarks, thanked the ladies for their work in superintending the preparation and serving of the banquets and the officers for their faithful performance of the duties imposed upon them.

KING'S ROYAL HOME

BUCKINGHAM PALACE TO BE EDWARD'S FIXED ABODE.

Extensive Alterations to Be Made in the Venerable Pile Before Great Britain's Monarch Takes Up His Residence There.

(Special Correspondence.)

ISTORIC old Buckingham palace, the London home of King Edward, will soon undergo extensive "alterations and repairs." It has been well known for a long time that King Edward was not very fond of living at Buckingham palace, even though he has for some time contemplated making London his permanent home.

The King's attitude toward London is one of the most potent sources of his great popularity. Kingly restdence means prosperity and wealth to hundreds of London tradesmen. In fact, when the king is in town business in the shopping districts—even the poorest neighborhoods—is always brisk and healthy. When the King is absent trade languishes.

When the proposed improvements on the King's residence have been carried out—at a cost of probably $1,000,000—the monarch will take up a permanent residence in London, with the exception of course, of the usual brief periods of absence during the shooting and yachting seasons.

The palace has long had the reputation of being one of the ugliest royal residences in all Europe. The main building looks like an immense barrack, the front being perfectly flat and unbroken in outline. Three or four stiff figures are placed along the edge of the roof, and the aspect of the whole place is strongly reminiscent of a factory.

On the present site of Buckingham palace, which stands on a high piece of ground in St. James' park—between Westminster Abbey and Trafalgar square—originally stood the home of the Duke of Buckingham. The building was very beautiful and presented the finest specimen of residential architecture of its time. Lord Herby inherited the place from the Buckinghams, and George III. bought the house and grounds for the sum of $105,000.

The present ugly building was designed by George IV., who built around the old building instead of pulling it down and constructing an entirely new mansion. In his attempts to accommodate the graceful architecture of the old structure to his ideas of what the new one should be he practically put the old residence in a square box with windows in it, evolving the present structure.

It is the presence of the old Buckingham residence within the palace that has filled the latter with so many angularities and inconvenient turnings. Rooms ramble off from each other in the wildest sort of fashion, and persons unfamiliar with the interior are constantly getting lost. It is in order to eliminate some of these incongruities that King Edward has proposed to remodel this building.

Despite all its architectural shortcomings, however, the interior of Buckingham palace is remarkably beautiful from a decorative point of view. On the accession of Queen Victoria, more than $750,000 was spent on mural decorations alone. This does not, of course, include the purchasing of the many fine paintings to be seen in the palace to-day. Buckingham palace now contains some of the finest paintings in existence.

George IV. spent $1,650,000 purchasing specimens of Dutch, Flemish and Italian art. Many original Rubens, Rembrandts, Van Dycks, Reynolds, Watteaus and Teniers, and other famous artistic productions are to be seen in various rooms of the palace. The art gallery, a long hall on the ground floor, has some of the most exquisite examples of sculpture. There is nothing unpalatable or unregal about the interior decorations of the famous palace. Of all the rooms in the palace, the throne room, where court presentations take place, is the most splendid. It is decorated in the Italian style of the fifteenth century.

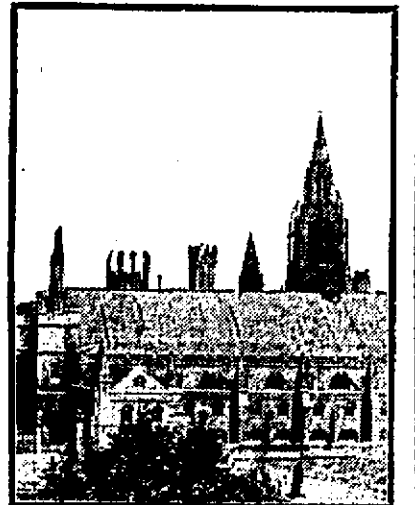

Probably the most beautiful feature of this room is the ceiling. It is deeply carved with relief figures, and angelic caryatides stand out from the sides, as if supporting the carving. Chandeliers of crystal—the central one a huge affair, which originally cost $95,000—hang down from the roof of this room. The pillars at the sides of the roof are of carved wood, overlaid with gilt.

The throne itself stands on a dais, backed by a frame of purple. On ordinary occasions in the throne room is placed an immense table, at the head of which stands a superb chair, the seat of which is supported by two winged figures, seated. At the sides of this table are rows of chairs without backs. It is at this table that the King holds councils, when called upon to sign documents or discuss matters of state. The chair occupied by the King on these occasions is of special design, and cost $6,500.

When a "drawing room" is in progress, the table is removed to another room, and on the dais is placed an additional throne for the Queen.

Next to the throne room in magnificence comes the marble hall, the apartment into which persons being presented are first ushered on entering the palace. This hall is supported by Corinthian pillars of marble, and the decorations are entirely of white and gold. The perspective of the interior of the palace from this viewpoint is very fine, and artists have commented upon the room in question as one of the finest examples of interior decoration in the world.

The principal alterations will probably be carried out in the King's own living rooms, on the second floor of the building. These are on the western and northern sides of Buckingham palace, and overlook the private grounds at the rear. The King's dining room is at present a rather bare looking apartment. It would probably be closed in and divided up. The

THE PROBLEM OF LYING.

Arabs Are Most Obstinate in Sticking to an Untruth.

The following characterization of the Arab penchant for not telling the truth is from a paper by Dr. G. Saint-Paul on the Tunisians (Bull. et. Mem. Soc. d'Anthr. de Paris, 1903, volume III, page 297): "Arab lying is exasperating. It is absurd and victorious. It triumphs easily over the critical sense and the habit of scientific reasoning. It is sometimes childish. Your native servants will never be taken unawares. You forbid one of them to smoke in your dining room and you surprise him there with a cigarette in his mouth. 'You were smoking.' 'No, I saw you.' 'Impossible.' 'You had a cigarette in your mouth; you are hiding it in your hand; there it is!' 'Then God put it in my hand.' . . . The native denies always. Taken red-handed he denies. Beneath blows he denies. Pain is sometimes powerless to make him confess, even at the point of death. This obstinacy is due in part to the high idea he has of his dignity; his pride forbids a confession, because the avowal of his lying is infinitely humiliating in his eyes. The fear of losing 'face' is all-powerful in him. To recognize a fault is more shameful than to have committed it. Hence the peculiar obstinacy of the native in denying, even when it would be to his interest to confess, an obstinacy not manifested in other ways."

Apparel For Women...

This will be another lively week in the department of ready-to-wear Suits, separate Skirts, separate Cloth Jackets, Silk Coats and Jackets. We are prepared for it with late arrivals in all the lines. The new store has already earned the reputation of having the noblest suits in town—and at the most reasonable prices. Suits range at $15, $18, $22½ and $25, and at every price the styles are exclusive, such as are approved by the world of fashion.

WAISTS...

Prepare for warmer days. The new Waists are in and on display; beautiful creations in sheer lawn waists, linen waists with drawn work, heavy mercerized waists with embroidered fronts.

MILLINERY...

It takes but a visit to the new department to convince any woman that there are advantages to be enjoyed here in the matter of Millinery that are very much to her interest. The assortments are large and the prices uniformly low for the best and choicest productions to be worn this spring. The opening of the past week was a decided success, and from now on new ideas will be added daily. In all lines there is one best—in the millinery line it is here.

MISS IDA M. SNYDER,

Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club.

MENSTRUAL irregularities are generally the beginning of a woman's troubles. With the vitality at a low ebb, the blood weakened, the digestion disordered, she goes about pale-faced, hollow-eyed and haggard, a piteous contrast to the blooming health of her former self. But over 1,000,000 women have found health again by taking Wine of Cardui.

Miss Ida M. Snyder.

As a regulator of the menstrual periods Wine of Cardui has never been known to fail. It has seldom failed to restore perfect health, even in the most persistent and aggravated case of weakness.

Miss Ida M. Snyder, of No. 535 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., has used Wine of Cardui and she says it helped her into a new life. Health to Miss Snyder is worth a great deal. She is an attractive young woman with intellectual attainments and she occupies the position of Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club. This position marks her as a person of intellect, culture and refinement and it speaks highly of the respect and trust her fellow women have in her. She writes:

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would use more intelligence in the matter of medicines, observing results, they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

You may secure the same relief as Miss Snyder, if you take Wine of Cardui as she took it. Thedford's Black-Draught is the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui and it is a liver and bowel regulator which assists greatly in effecting a cure. If you take these medicines according to directions, the relief and cure is simple. Some cases are cured quickly and others take longer because the disease has run longer. Remember how Miss Snyder took Wine of Cardui and has health. The same medicines are offered you to-day.

WINE of CARDUI

A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

On and after April 1st, 1903, no contract will be made for business advertising. The rate for this class of advertising will be ten cents per line for each and every issue of either Daily or Weekly. The Gazette adopts this policy for two reasons:

First. To improve the news columns of the paper. The first consideration of any newspaper, is the reader; and its value to the advertiser depends entirely upon its popularity with the reading public. Business localities frequently flood the composing room the last hour before the paper goes to press, and news is sacrificed to meet the demands of this class of business. The Daily Gazette is rapidly extending its circulation throughout the county, giving the Janesville merchant an opportunity to talk to the farmer as well as the city customer, six days in the week. This means faster machinery, and increased expense in producing a paper as well as increased value for advertising purposes.

The Gazette has also adopted what is known as the space rate for display advertising, and prices have been placed within the reach of all advertisers.

The paper has long enjoyed a liberal patronage from home merchants, and it is in position today to furnish better service than any time in its history.

THE PRESIDENT MISREPRESENTED

Mr. Hugh O. Pentecost who seems to consider himself a great censor for the community, has now fallen foul of President Roosevelt because of his recent utterances about "race suicide." Mr. Pentecost's criticisms would be more pertinent, if they were based upon a correct statement of the presidents views. According to him the presidents ideal people are those who are ready to work, fight, suffer and have children—to work because they must, to fight merely for conquest, to suffer because it is a privilege and to have children for the sake of increasing the population. This is a gross misstatement of the presidents position. He would have men work to better their condition. He would have men ready to fight, but to fight for principle and in national defense. He would have men suffer if necessary but suffer for the right and stand suffering bravely.

As to the bearing of children, the presidents views are well known. He has expressed them earnestly and frequently. He has not advocated large families merely that the population be swelled. The rabbit is not his ideal citizen. He believes in large families provided the children have physical education, and brought up in fear of the Lord, as well as in fear of the parent, have the best education the schools afford, are taught their duties to the community and are made good citizens. If all children were of the kind the president would like them to be the coming generation would revolutionize the moral, social and political conditions of the country. There could not be too many of such children. American citizenship would be of a higher type than it is now.—Chicago Tribune.

The criticisms referred to by the Tribune was made by Mr. Pentecost before a New York audience one day last week. He said among other things: "Think of rearing a child to live in a tenement or work in the cotton mills! If this is all there were to hope for the world had better commit suicide. As people become more intelligent they have fewer children, and I venture to say that after many people have had children grown, if they had the experience over again they would have none."

"I wouldn't take a million apiece for the children I have, but I would not give 15 cents for another. See how the finger of scorn is pointed at France. She is the most advanced nation today."

Mr. Pentecost is evidently a pessimist of pronounced type. The president believes in the American home and American institutions. He realizes that no home is complete without children, and that the future of the nation depends upon the character of the child.

THE CHICAGO ELECTION

The statement is frequently made that every city enjoys just as good local government as its citizens desire. The statement is true, and yet sometimes a little misleading.

Chicago recently elected Mayor Harrison for the fifth term, and yet under his several administrations the city has been noted for corruption. It is doubtless that a majority of Chicago voters are law respecting and law abiding citizens, and if they could unite their efforts, and candidate that might be selected would be elected.

The weakness of Chicago and other cities of this class is found in the fact that factional strife prevails to such an extent that important issues are lost in the conflict.

The republican party is largely responsible for poor government in Chicago, as well as in many other large cities, responsible because it fails to recognize the fact that numerically it is not strong enough to control.

The foreign population of any large city is anything but republican. There is something about the democratic party that appeals to this class, and they are ready to swear allegiance, long before they can speak the language of the country.

While the democratic party enrolls many good citizens, they are never strong enough in any large city to control the actions of their own party, and as a result the experiences of Tammany are repeated every year. The better element of the republican and democratic parties combined are in the ascendancy in any city and when they combine forces, as they did in New York a few years ago, victory is always assured.

Chicago glories in a civic federation, which is simply a snare and delusion. It does more to defeat good men for offices, than any other organized element in cities politics. Its stock in trade is reform with a large R, and the masses flee from it as they would from a plague.

While it is non partisan, it is exclusive, because it claims to be made of finer clay than the ordinary mortal. The man who gets too good for his church or party is altogether too pure for this mundane sphere. The place to work effectively for reform, is within the ranks of the party, and not on the outside of the enclosure. Talk is cheap, but it takes votes to win.

Chicago or any other city will take on reform when the better element of both parties, not under a separate organization, but on the broad platform of citizenship, unit forces for the public good.

THE INTERURBAN FRANCHISE

The Mayors veto of the franchise recently granted to the Janesville Traction Company, leaves the matter where it was before any action was taken. There has been more or less discussion concerning the merits of the two companies interested and it is doubtless better that the question be settled by the incoming council. The retiring council is under a cloud, and any action relating to the future of the city is scanned with more or less suspicion. The new council will be free from these conditions and will be supposed to act for the best interests of the city.

Delay does not mean defeat of the enterprise, as it is understood that both companies are acting in good faith, and that either one of them are ready to commence work as soon as a franchise is granted. Mayor Richardson's reasons for his veto, will be read with interest. They indicate that on the eve of retirement from office that he is disposed to properly safeguard the city's interests. The defects referred to seemed vital, and while it is probably true that they might be remedied, the mayor, under the circumstances, could hardly afford to fix the seal of approval.

The city wants railroads and all other enterprises that will contribute to prosperity, but franchises when granted should be in the interests of the city.

The streets are for the benefit of the public and the public interests should be properly protected. Whatever may be the action of the new council, it will not be accused of prejudice and the mayor will not be criticised by the public for deferring action.

The state of Iowa is constantly kept before the people of Wisconsin as a model state, by an administration which thus far has contributed nothing but discord. The two states are as much unlike in make-up as Kansas and Maine. Iowa was founded by a colony of reformers, and the state for years has been a refuge for people who were a little too pure for ordinary existence. The state has long been noted for impractical and visionary schemes. Wisconsin can hardly afford to pattern after Iowa in anything.

The Municipal League acted wisely in settling the suits instigated against certain city officials. The men who contributed money will be reimbursed, the council has been purified, and permanent reform will be established.

The five year term of N. B. Treat, vice-president of the State Board of Control, expired yesterday. The governor will now have an opportunity to appoint another figure head.

The complaint of "tax payer" on the weakness of the cities legal representative is well taken. The city can well afford to pay a salary for a city attorney.

George Bishop, ex-member of the State Board of Control is said to be hopelessly demented. He was taken to the Northern Hospital last Saturday.

If a duck is in Texas today, Wisconsin tomorrow, and the British possessions, next week, what is the nationality and what state does he belong to.

The president and the mountain lions, appear to be having a quiet time in the National Park. The kodak fiend failed to gain admittance.

President Roosevelt is to speak at Des Moines, Iowa, on his way east. The state needs a little bracing on its republicanism.

There will be no spring shooting this year. The best way to protect game is to prohibit market shooting and enforce the law.

Senator Kreutzer will survive the attack of the governor's organ. He has a constituency that is conservative, and he has been consistent.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

It is stated that Pope Leo XIII. is preparing two new encyclicals, one on divorce and one on dueling.

S. M. Inman of Atlanta, Ga., has given $25,000 toward the proposed Presbyterian university to be erected in that city.

The Rev. John Mathews, a Methodist minister of St. Louis, has been preaching continuously for the last fifty-seven years.

Father Klammann, a priest of Woodhaven, L. I., recently published a comedy and an opera and is now at work upon a drama.

The Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd of New York, has been elected bishop of Mississippi, to succeed the late Rev. Hugh Miller Thompson.

A movement is on foot for the erection of a memorial to the late archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Temple, to be placed in the cathedral.

Andrew Carnegie has presented a fine pipe organ to All Saints' Episcopal church, Cleveland, which will be dedicated on Easter Sunday.

Students of Seton Hall college, South Orange, N. J., have presented to Bishop J. J. O'Connor of Newark, N. J., statues of the Blessed Virgin and St. Joseph.

The Rev. John Hewitt, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Columbus, O., has been selected as president of the Ohio commission to establish a home for deformed children.

Southern Methodists, at their late conference in Nashville, Tenn., chose among their new hymns for their hymnal, Kipling's "Recessional" and Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar."

My Neighbor and Myself.

"One person I have to make good—myself. But my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy—if I may." That was Stevenson's theory, and it isn't a bad one. We want people to be improved, but instead of showing them how very nice improved persons are by improving ourselves until nothing is left to be done in that line, we urge our particular doctrine down their throats, overlooking our own needs.

Threatens His Unwilling Landlord.

There is always something new developing in the old Kansas trouble. In Topeka a liquor seller has been ordered to vacate the premises he has occupied for a long time. He says he can't afford to give up the location, and that if he is forced to move he will bring action against his landlord for complicity in the liquor business! The nerve of the professional Kansas jointist is something amazing.—Topeka (Kan.) Capital.

D. A. R'S MAKE A BEAUTIFUL GIFT

TO GIVE A FAC SIMILE OF DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

MET WITH MRS. O. H. FETHERS

A Most Interesting Afternoon Was Experienced by All Present.

Yesterday afternoon the Janesville chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at the home of Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers, 51 St. Lawrence place and had an afternoon of exceptional interesting discussion and enjoyment.

The Fac Simile
Chief among the attractions of the afternoon was the presentation of the fac simile of the declaration of independence presented to the Janesville chapter by Miss Mary Cecelia Ryan of Elizabeth, N. J. This patriotic lady has made a similar present to every one of the 583 chapters of the Daughters in the United States.

Beautiful Tribute
This beautiful tribute to our early patriots. The men who declared the thirteen little colonies free and independent from the rule and oppression of King George. Who followed the steps of the men who threw the tea into Boston harbor rather than pay the tax will rest in the future in the halls of our city library where all the rising generation can look upon it and learn from it a lesson of patriotism and courage.

Charming Sentiment
It was a charming sentiment that prompted Miss Ryan to donate such a gift to all her sister Daughters of the Revolution, but it is just as beautiful a sentiment that has prompted the ladies of the Janesville chapter to place it carefully framed on the walls of the Carnegie library for the youth of today to learn a lesson from the deeds of the heroes of the past.

An Excellent Copy
The copy is a most accurate one and the name of John Hancock stands out in just as plain letters as it did when that worthy patriot signed it in so strong and firm a hand that King George did not have to put on his spectacles to read it. The distinct lawyer's hand of Thomas Jefferson looks just as it did when he made the original draft for the Continental congress in session in Philadelphia on July 4th, 1776.

Afternoon Paper
The paper of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Ogden Fethers and treated with the report of the Continental congress, their work and accomplishments. It was clear and concise and treated the subject most fully. Coming at it did with the presentation of the fac simile of the constitution that has made these men famous, it was more than timely. Mrs. Fethers is a most interesting talker and her paper was full of facts not often brought out.

Musical Programme
Following the paper was a musical programme of exceptional excellence. Mrs. W. T. Shearer gave a most charming piano solo and Mrs. John Rexford sang a delightful selection. Both Mrs. Shearer and Mrs. Rexford are accomplished and finished musicians and a treat to listen to them was duly appreciated.

Light Refreshments
At the close of the programme Mrs. Fethers served light refreshments. Part of the business of the afternoon was the finishing of the work of action upon the new by-laws for the use of the chapter. A resolution was also passed which directed the secretary to send the vote of thanks of the chapter to Miss Ryan for the generous gift. It was also decided by resolution to have the present suitably framed and hung in the new library.

UNCLE JOSH HAS GOOD AUDIENCE

Myers' Grand Well Filled to Hear the 'Funny Old Farmer's' Stories.

Uncle Josh Spruceby with his host of friends made his bow to the audience at the Myers Grand last evening. Uncle Josh is as fresh and witty as ever and does not look a day older than when he told his funny stories several seasons ago. In point of audience, Uncle Josh drew a good house. Not only were the seats well filled but the occupants were liberal with their applause which helps so much towards giving a successful performance.

His witticisms of city folks and the plain rural life with the melodramatic features all go to make the play a good one which keeps the audience in a roar of laughter and also in the verge of expectancy as to what awful thing is to be averted next.

The parts were all well taken and the orchestra which belongs to the company was more than excellent. The street parade of the band will long be remembered as one of the pleasing features of the show.

SUBSCRIPTION SEAT SALE IS PROGRESSING VERY RAPIDLY

Indications Point to a Large Attendance at "The Chaperons" Performance. Manager Myers is doing his utmost to keep the public's comfort in mind by his advance subscription seat sale for "The Chaperons" which is at the opera house next Wednesday night. The sale thus far is very good but Mr. Myers has the list at the box office of the theatre where all who wish can sign it.

A spasm of economy has struck the legislature, and appropriations are being cut in all directions, but the mill tax still lives.

TAX PAYER HAS SOME OBJECTIONS

CRITICISES LEGAL DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY.

HIS REMARKS ARE POINTED

Facts Are Salient and Stand Clearly Out, Speaking for Themselves.

To the editor: The legal objection to the street railway franchise urged with great force by the mayor in his veto message Monday night was that the city council had no power to grant an amended franchise without the amendment being published. The original franchise was published. The franchise as amended was not published neither was the amendment published.

We presume the purpose of publishing a franchise is to appraise the public of so important a step as the granting of a franchise. The argument that an amendment to a proposed franchise must be published would seem unanswerable. If such amendment may be passed without publication, then a proposed franchise may be published and an altogether different franchise passed by way of amendment from the one proposed and the original franchise as published would not only inform the public but would actually mislead them.

That question must have been before the city attorney in framing the franchise because the franchise was drawn under his immediate supervision. The franchise must have been proposed with his consent to its terms for no company seeking a franchise would desire to encounter the opposition of the legal advisor of the city to the terms of its provisions. Then, too, when the amendment was passed by the city council the city attorney was present. The objection should have been recorded either in open session of the council or by a written opinion. The mayor in his veto message was the first to publicly raise the legal objection.

The further objection was made by the mayor that the amendment permitting the company to appropriate Court street bridge without any pretense at protecting the city's interest and without the imposition of any terms or conditions in the use of the bridge by the company is a strong one. That condition vitally touches the interest of the taxpayers. It would seem impossible that a company seeking a franchise for fifty years would secure the right to use a bridge during all that space of time at the exclusive expense of the taxpayers of Janesville and without costs to the company, without the registry of a protest from the legal department of the city whose duty it is to protect the city in such matters.

The facts are that there is a dirth of legal opinion on record in the city's affairs and the conviction is forced upon taxpayers that this department of our city government needs to be strengthened.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, April 15, 1863.—There can be no doubt, we think that Dixon is elected chief justice. The soldiers have emphatically settled that question. Copperheadism finds no favor with them.

A correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel says that Colonel Larrabee of the Twentieth fourth regiment would not allow his soldiers to vote for chief justice. What right had Col. Larrabee to take such a course? We do not know that the governor has any power to revoke his commission, but if he has, we trust it may be done. He is a pretty specimen of a democrat. This party claims to be in favor of universal suffrage and equal rights and yet here is one of their leaders denying his soldiers of privilege of voting which their state has given them.

Letters have been received from some of the members of the 22nd regiment who were last captured, announcing the arrival of that part of the regiment at Annapolis, Md., on parole. We shall publish some of the letters tomorrow.

We are informed by the mayor that the last meeting of the present council will be held tomorrow evening at half past seven o'clock. Newly elected officers who have bonds to approve or others having business to be done before the new council assemblies will please take notice.

The administration has determined to employ negro soldiers on a large scale, but are not settled on a plan; agents are being sent to various parts of the south to obtain facts bearing on the subject, so as to act most wisely. Adjutant General Thomas is one of them.

Transcanadian Line.

Likely Development of the Future Philadelphia Public Ledger: The recent remarkable development of Manitoba, Assiniboia, Alberta, Athabasca and British Columbia, which, though lying far to the north have proven themselves a splendid wheat growing empire, and are drawing thousands of emigrants from our own western states, has made the building of a new railway across Canada, a likelihood of the near future. It seems only a few years ago that the madness of men who proposed laying a railroad track north of the Great Lakes, through the unpeopled tracts of western Canada, was a subject of wonder and jest. Now that the common stock of the Canadian Pacific railway is usually quoted above 130, now that it cannot take care of its traffic and each fall sees a great grain blockade on its lines, Canadians realize if we of the states do not yet, that a second railway across the continent through the miraculously developed grain belt is a proposition attended with the slightest risk.

The proposed Transcanadian line, described in the April Review of Reviews by Mr. E. D. T. Chambers, is mapped to start from the head of navigation on the Saguenay river, with spurs from Quebec and Montreal and to run in an almost straight line in a direction which a mariner would describe as west by north-west, passing the head of Hudson bay, north of Lake Winnipeg and Little Slave Lake, 300 miles north of Calgary, and 200 miles north of Edmonton, reaching Port Simpson on the Pacific in the latitude of northern Labrador. This may sound to those who have not had occasion to not the surprising northerly trend of the isotherms in western North America much like the prospectus of an expedition into the frigid zone, in point of fact the line sketched, traverses magnificent agricultural country, which indeed stretches for a large part of the way 500 miles still further north. It may be said

Japan current, or it may be winds whose courses are not perfectly understood, but of the climate of north western Canada, no idea can be gathered from the latitude. The whole region is what one would expect to find many hundred miles south: spring comes as early, and summer is as warm and lasts as long. In Athabasca as in Dakota 1,500 miles to the southeast.

By the proposed line, the distance from the water on the Atlantic to a splendid port on the Pacific will be 2,530 miles, against 3,000 by the Canadian Pacific, and 3,400 by the Grand Trunk. The gradients will nowhere be great, the Rocky mountains being crossed by a pass only 2,000 high. The company has already proposed to carry wheat from Manitoba and place on board an Atlantic steamer at a cost of 7 cents a bushel below the prevailing rate. It is another fact, generally unfamiliar, that the more northerly port of the Pacific coast of North America the nearer it is to the orient. Port Simpson is a considerably less distance from Yokohama than San Francisco or Vancouver. Indeed, from Liverpool to Yokohama by the Transcanadian route would be only 9,830 miles against 12,089 miles via New York and San Francisco. This point is enlarged upon by writers to favor the project as a military precaution, the particular advantage noticed by these advocates being, however, the security of a new line lying from 300 to 600 miles within Canadian territory, in the improbable event of war between United States and Great Britain.

The eastern end of this road is already built; construction has begun west of Roberval on Lake St. John. The dominion has granted a generous subsidy for the first stages, and it is confidently expected that this will be continued for the whole line, while, in addition, land grants from the various provinces crossed are hoped for.

MILITARY BALL VERY SUCCESSFUL

First Large Dance of Christ Church Cadets Was Most Delightful.

Christ Church Cadets were the hosts to a large gathering of young people of this city last evening at Assembly hall. There were fully 120 couples on the floor despite the inclement weather which kept many others away. The large floor space of Assembly hall was nicely filled, there being about the right number to make the party a lively one without being crowded.

Hall Decorations. The bulk of the decorations which were used at the party given by the Unique club were allowed to remain, the boys adding a large number of national flags which were draped around the walls and over the windows in a very pretty manner, and with the stacks of guns in the corners and about the music stand it had a very martial air.

The cadets were in full uniform and presented a pretty picture scattered among the white dresses of the ladies. There were many elaborate gowns worn to be seen on the floor and few parties can boast of a happier or more animated crowd than that of last evening. A number of the young people who are here for the coming nuptial events were present last evening, also many visitors from the neighboring cities.

Good Music. Smith's orchestra rendered the merry waltzes and lively two steps in a pleasing manner and the gay dancers whirled away the hours in that happiest of pastimes. The cadets are to be complimented upon the success of their party and the party was one of the pleasantest of the season and all enjoyed it to the utmost.

Danced Late. Dancing continued until one o'clock, which closed another of these pleasant parties. The reception committee was composed of Sergeants Curtis Carpenter and Ernest Korst.

The arrangement committee: Sergeant Lewis Gage, Capt. Bernard Palmer and Lieut. Griffith. The floor committee: Sergeants F. Hutchinson, L. Townsend and H. Lee.

A CARD. We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Green's warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

MISS MINOR WAS CHARMING TALKER

She Tells of the Chinese Boxers, and Life of the Missionaries.

The ladies of the Loan Band and Covent club entertained Miss Louise Minor with an informal supper in the church parlors of the Congregational church last evening. The entertainment extended by the ladies to Miss Minor was a very informal affair but greatly enjoyed by all present. Simple refreshments were served and discussions as to the conditions in China during past years and at the present time was indulged in by all. Miss Minor interesting her friends with information concerning that far away country.

Evening Program. After supper the ladies adjourned to the lecture room where the evening's program was held. The meeting opened with vocal music by six of the young ladies of the church, lead by Mrs. Will Jeffris, after which Miss Minor spoke at length upon the recent revolt in China. The address was very interesting and Miss Minor described the situation there, telling of the dangers and sufferings that they went through, of the struggles and faithfulness of the missionaries. Her description of the scenes were very real and the information she gave was interesting as well as instructive. Miss Minor spoke well and the large audience was well pleased with the address.

Closing Remarks. At the close of the talk Mrs. Robert Denison spoke to the ladies for a short time. The meeting was closed with a solo by Mr. Boeschel.

THE HUMAN LOCOMOTIVE

A certain man, because he was so strong and hearty, imagined he was a locomotive. There was, he thought, no limit to his vitality.

He regarded his stomach as the firebox. All he had to do was to keep the firebox full.

He followed the Mississippi steamboat plan, and crowded every old thing into his stomach.

One day when he was pulling a heavy load the firebox didn't burn right, so the Human Locomotive stopped to investigate.

He found the fires choked, the firebox full of clinkers, and so stuffed with fuel that it couldn't even show a red glimmer.

Somebody told him to keep a clean fire with a good draught, and feed it regularly with only a certain quantity at a time.

He was further advised to use Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets for the purpose of putting himself in first class shape.

He did as he was told, and was soon able to pull and haul as well as ever. Besides he puffed less under a heavy load.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are absolutely guaranteed to cure all the distressing forms of Dyspepsia and Indigestion, or we'll pay for all the medicine you take.

FARMER CAUSES TERROR ON TRAIN DEVELOPS FIERCE STRENGTH

Although of Slight Build It Takes Eight Men to Subdue the Maniac and Bind Him With the Bell Cord—Suffers From Cuts.

Chicago, April 15.—Bombed with the bell cord cut from the smoking car of which he was the only occupant, Alva Hayes, a Michigan farmer, violently insane, arrived in a Chicago Great Western train at the Polk street depot.

The man was bleeding from wounds caused by two attempts to plunge through the windows of the speeding train, and his efforts threatened at any moment to break the cords that held him. The occupants of the two coaches had been forced by fear of the insane man to seek refuge in the dining car, the doors of which were guarded by the train crew.

Women Faint.
During the run from Sycamore, Ill., to Chicago, a distance of forty miles, the passengers were terror-stricken by the actions of the man. Several women fainted and were carried to places of safety by companions, and Hayes and his guards were left in sole possession of the forward coaches.

Before the maniac could be restrained he seized a piece of broken glass and attacked two of the trainmen, inflicting painful injuries. Conductor Charles Ashman and brakeman John McFarland were the objects of his maddened attack.

Becomes Violent.
Hayes is a resident of Kalamazoo, Mich., where he is the owner of a stock farm. A month ago he went to the home of his brother, A. S. Hayes, Fargo, N. D., for a visit. His brother observed indications of religious mania and decided to accompany the demented one to his home.

No evidence of violent insanity was noticeable and until the train reached Sycamore Hayes had not attracted the attention of the other passengers. The dining car was filled when the man arose from his seat with a shout and waved his arms about. He then ran to a closed window and had thrown himself half way through it when dragged back by his brother and Conductor Ashman.

Struggles With Trainmen.
While the women occupants of the car fled in terror to the chair car Hayes struggled with his captors and the efforts of eight men were necessary to subdue him. Finding nothing else available to secure the maniac the bell cord was cut from the car, and his legs bound. He was carried to the chair car, but in a few moments broke the strands that held him and made a second effort to plunge from the car.

For five minutes the group of men struggled with the maniac, who was armed with the piece of glass, but finally he was thrown to the floor and bound. Although not of athletic build, the man's strength was phenomenal, and his cries could be heard above the noise of the moving train.

Religious Mania.
At the first stop the Chicago police were telephoned to, and Policemen Jarvis and West of the Harrison street station were waiting at the depot for the arrival of the maniac. The cutting of the bell cord and the struggle of the train crew had caused the engineer to lessen the speed of the train, which arrived in the city more than one hour late.

Physicians were summoned, and the maniac was taken to the county hospital, where his wounds were dressed. He was accompanied by his brother, who will take Hayes to his home when he is convalescent.

The brother declares that no symptoms of insanity had been observed in Hayes before his visit to Dakota, and believes that it is only a temporary religious mania.

ANTI-GAMBLING LAW IS INVALID

Montana Judge Kills Act Framed by Ministerial Association.

Helena, Mont., April 15.—Montana's law against gambling, known as house bill No. 345, was declared unconstitutional by Judge Henry C. Smith. The law provides that when any citizen shall inform any peace officer that a law is being violated it becomes the duty of that officer to enter the place designated and arrest the offenders. The Ministerial association framed the act.

FOOD FOR THE PLUM CURCULIO.

Prof. F. M. Webster: The plum curculio no longer confines itself to the wild plum, though it does return, if possible, to the woodlands there to pass the winter among the fallen leaves; but the plum orchard of the horticulturist offers a better feeding ground, with larger and more attractive varieties than the wild plums of the woodlands. The insect is enabled to breed more unrestrained, and a greater supply of food is offered it, than was possible under the old existing conditions. The hordes of birds upon its numbers in the primeval woods are now greatly reduced, and the few trees that happen to be located in an occasional chicken park, are the only ones where there is much of the old time trouble from feathered enemies. If there are not plums enough, it can get along with the early peach and some of the apples, in which to breed and feed.

Buckwheat is a native of Central Asia and the basin of the Volga. It has been known and cultivated for ages in different parts of the world.

STAND IN AWE OF AMERICA

RIDICULOUS TO THREATEN WAR

Baron Riepenhausen Declares Germany Has Exported 15,000,000 Men to the New World, Who Are Now More Antagonistic Than Americans.

Rome, April 15.—The proposal for a European agreement to create a Zollverein against American imports was brought up in the international congress of agriculture.

One of the German members recommended a union of all European countries for the purpose of resisting by protective enactments the American economic invasion.

Sig. Luzzatti, who has been three times Italian minister of the treasury, and who is considered the highest Italian authority on questions of commerce, expressed his astonishment that in the presence of the high tariffs just voted by Germany and Switzerland, and the tariff now being prepared by Austria-Hungary, any one dare suggest a European customs union to oppose American competition. "Is there hope for a European agreement," he asked, "before declaring war on the United States?"

Respect for America.
It would be ridiculous to threaten war, he said, without an understanding among the allies. Even the renewal of the present European treaties was difficult. The existing tariffs were so enormous that they were threatening to put back Europe economically to the middle ages. How was it possible, under such conditions, to fight the United States, of which he must speak with respect. Her greatness imposes prudence, while her force commands respect. Italy especially cannot take the matter too lightly, as she not only sends goods to America, but men who are going to seek there liberty, work, and prosperity.

NO CUSTOMS UNION.

"The present threat was not serious, because a customs union was impossible among the European nations. If it were possible America would defend herself, and how could Europe compensate herself for the damage that America could do. He hoped that the commercial treaties would be renewed, for they, containing the most favored nation clause, alone might lead to a sort of European customs union."

Sig. Luzzatti asked if the responsibility for the much condemned trusts lies on America or on Europe.

"Let us abandon the idea of a European league against any one," he said, "and advocate a conference of the representatives of the whole world to take measures against the trusts and leagues which are perturbing the natural equilibrium of the markets."

Unnecessary Threat.
M. Mellne, the former French premier, declared that it was impossible to establish the same duties throughout Europe, which had such different products and needs.

"America is such an extraordinary country," he said, "that I am frightened when I think what she may become when she has reached the height of her development, but if some American products threaten us, others are absolutely indispensable to us. If her production increases, her population also increases, thereby increasing the home consumption."

"We must study a legitimate organization of defense, not a Zollverein which would be war. It will be imprudent to adopt the proposition before the congress, which is an unnecessary threat and an unripe measure."

POSTPONE ACTION.

Baron Riepenhausen, a member of the reichstag, said that the greatest threat of the United States was for the European industries, but agriculture was also menaced. This situation must be faced, bearing in mind the proverb that "attack is the best defense."

The fact that Europe exported men to the American continent was no reason for sparing America. Germany had exported 15,000,000 men who were now fighting Europe worse than the Americans themselves.

In conclusion, he proposed that a committee of twelve—representing France, Italy, Austria and Germany—be appointed to study the best way for Europe to fight American competition.

DEPOSIT OF RADIUM IS FOUND

Russian Engineer Announces Discovery, but Location Is Kept Secret.

St. Petersburg, April 15.—The Novoe Vremya announces, without giving details, that a Russian engineer has discovered a deposit of natural radium in the Russian steppes, near the Asiatic border. The statement is not confirmed, but if true it obviously is of great importance, in view of the extreme scarcity of the mysterious mineral, the costliness of which hampers experiments.

SENATOR STONE BEFORE THE JURY

SHERIFF DOES CLEVER WORK

Spies Man He Is Seeking and, Jumping From Street Car, Serves a Subpoena on Former Governor, Who Is Attorney for Baking Powder Men.

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—United States Senator William J. Stone, who is supposed to know as much about the passage of the first alum bill and the defeat of the repeal of the bill as any one in the last general assembly, was a witness before the grand jury in its investigation of the charges of boodling in the legislature.

The senator spent an hour and a half before the inquisitors and what he divulged is said to have been of a startling nature, but as the senator desired to have his testimony transcribed from the stenographer's notes, providing the grand jury would allow this to be done, and refused to say anything, the substance of his testimony could not be learned.

SENATOR IS EXEMPT.

Mr. Stone was well aware that the evidence adduced before the grand jury could not be made public.

Despite the fact that Stone is a United States senator, the grand jury put him through the tolls. Under the law Stone is exempt from prosecution for receiving a fee as attorney for speaking in behalf of the alum bill. For this service the senator received $5,000, and as he was not a state or city official at that time, he was merely acting as an attorney for the baking powder men. There can be no prosecution on this score. This he knows.

IS CAUGHT NAPPING.

However, questions were put to the senator to this effect: "Did or did you not disburse any money among the members of the general assembly to further the movement of the alum bill in the legislature?"

Just what the senator answered cannot be learned, but from a reliable source it was learned that the senator made certain admissions which would be of a damaging nature to several members of the state assembly.

Senator Stone was landed by accident. The man who served the summons caught the senator napping. Sheriff Diekmann enjoys this distinction. While riding east on Pine street on an Eighteenth street car he spotted the senator on the sidewalk. He pulled a bunch of blank subpoenas from his pocket, leaped from the rapidly moving car, and accosted the statesman.

WILLING TO TESTIFY.

"Governor, I would like to speak with you," said the sheriff, as he thrust the little pink paper into Stone's hand. Stone accepted it, and after perusing it informed the sheriff that he would be on hand.

Senator Stone said: "There has been no subpoena issued for me, by the Cole county grand jury, but I will go to Jefferson City and testify voluntarily if they desire me to do so."

Among the witnesses examined was Cornelius Roach, secretary of the senate, and Robert E. Lee, who transmitted a $1,000 check from D. J. Kelley to his brother, Lieut. Gov. Lee.

It was learned that Col. W. H. Phelps, for whom a subpoena was issued at St. Louis, has left Carthage. Inquiry at his home elicited the information that he was not in the city, but the servants were unable or unwilling to state where he had gone.

ASKS OF $1,000 BILLS.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 15.—The witnesses before the grand jury were Senators Schoenlaub, Collins and Sartorius of St. Louis and former Senator Haynes of St. Joseph. Nothing definite could be learned regarding the nature of their testimony, but it is learned that Senator Collins was asked to explain how he came into possession of seven $1,000 bills which he publicly displayed in St. Louis soon after the adjournment of the legislature.

Lieut. Gov. Lee arrived from Kansas City and will go before the grand jury.

ILLINOIS BAPTIST CONFERENCE

Porrin, Chicago; the Rev. L. D. Osborn, Bloomington, and H. H. Alger of the American Bible Publishing association.

TWO-POUND BABE.

Danville, Ill., April 15.—A two-pound baby girl was born to Mrs. Charles Knight and is doing well. The child is well developed and is healthy and active. It can easily be placed in a quart cup. The part of the leg above the knee is no larger than a man's thumb, and a quarter will completely cover one of the hands. The head is smaller than a baseball.

Will Chicagoans Eat Horse Meat?

Chicago papers have been reporting recently that a German was trying to establish in Chicago a plant for the killing and packing of horses for domestic and foreign consumption. It has been predicted that he would fall in his undertaking, and it is probable that he will. At present there is a city law prohibiting this business in Chicago. Doubtless horse meat is as clean as any other kind of meat, but that is not the only thing to be considered. If the practice of selling horseflesh for food once became lawful, it is about certain that it would injure the trade now existing in beef. We have had our experience with oleomargarine and filled cheese. Had they been always sold under their own names little harm would have resulted to the interests of the butter-makers or the cheese-makers. But they were sold as pure butter and full cream cheese. If horseflesh were always sold for horseflesh and always eaten as such, the objections to the practice of selling it would be less numerous than they are now. But we are morally certain that if the practice were permitted, horseflesh would soon be discovered being palmed off as something else, both to the local consumer and the foreign buyer. Legitimate trade would simply have one more fraud with which to contend. Moreover, it is doubtful if the horses that went to supply this trade would belong to that class known as "healthy." Healthy horses that are cheap enough to be eaten are very scarce. The few crippled old and lame horses that could be secured would hardly suffice to keep a good sized plant running. There is a certain foreign element in Chicago that might be satisfied to eat horseflesh if they could get it at a very low price. This element is not, however, sufficiently large to justify Americans in jeopardizing their immense meat trade to cater to. We think it will be a long time before Chicagoans get down to horse meat as a steady diet.

HOW THE STEER CUTS UP.

We reproduce a diagram published in the last report of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture. It is of a 1,200-pound steer, and shows how a market topper retails in a first-class market. The value of this steer is figured out in detail about as follows: 68 pounds of rib, $10.88; 92 pounds of porterhouse, $20.24; 31 pounds of sirloin, $6.12; 25 pounds of rump, $2.80; 124 pounds of round, $10.54; 24 pounds of neck, 96 cents; 112 pounds of plate, $4.04; 22 pounds of flank, $1.10; 130 pounds of chuck, $9.75; 50 pounds of shin, $2; 24 pounds of shank, 72 cents.

This gives a total of $50.58 for the better cuts of meat ending with the round, and $18.57 for the poorer kinds. The lesson to be drawn from it is the profitability of feeding and breeding in a manner designed to give the greatest proportion of high priced meat and the smallest proportion of low priced.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S POOR SIGHT.

Thirty-two per cent of the boys and 37 per cent of the girls in the schools of Chicago have defective vision, failing two-thirds below the normal, and this number grows steadily larger from the beginning to the end of school life.
